

Robert K. Reynard

Rob Reynard is a founding partner of PADRM (formerly a partner at Bennett Tueller Johnson & Deere)

Mr. Reynard works in the Commercial Litigation, Construction Law, Labor & Employment, Health Care, OSHA, and Real Estate practice groups at PADRM. He has represented clients in administrative proceedings and in state and federal courts throughout the Intermountain West and in Washington, D.C. in general business litigation, insurance defense cases, ERISA cases, real estate transactions and litigation, and labor and employment disputes with former employees and organized labor. Additionally, he has defended a number of companies in Occupational Safety & Health cases before the United States Occupational Safety & Health Administration and the Utah Occupational Safety & Health Division.

Prior to attending law school, Mr. Reynard attended Southern Utah University in Cedar City, Utah, graduating Magna Cum Laude in 1999. While a student at SUU, he assisted in the formation of the Center for Politics & Public Service (now known as the Michael O. Leavitt Center for Politics & Public Service). Mr. Reynard interned for the Utah State Legislature in 1997 and for the Honorable United States Senator Orrin Hatch in 1999. He served as the Student Regent for the State of Utah's State Board of Regents from 1998-1999. Mr. Reynard is married with children.